Save GUI Settings

INTRODUCTION

The default size and position of the EnSight user interface windows was chosen to try to minimize window overlap. Since some users may have different criteria for window placement, EnSight provides a method for saving this information.

BASIC OPERATION

You can move and resize windows using the standard window manager operations. Once you have positioned your windows as desired:

1. Select Edit > Preferences..., select General User Interface and click Save Size and Position of Main Windows.

The information is saved in your `.ensight7/` directory (which is located in your home directory) in the file `ensight.winpos.default.`

This and many other preference settings can be set and saved, see How To Set and Modify Preferences.

SEE ALSO

User Manual: Save Window Positions under the General User Interface of Prefs.